The Pulse of Private Equity – 2/12/2024

PitchBook | February 15, 2024

Over the long term, PE growth and buyout have been standout performers. VC was keeping pace but has retrenched since 2021.

This assumes investing in our universe of funds for which we have cash flows and net asset value (NAV) data available each quarter. It is a hypothetical result if one were able to invest in a "market" portfolio of funds starting, in this case, at the beginning of 2007. We use our quarterly returns series available in our PitchBook Benchmarks report to calculate the growth in asset value. This data also constitutes our Private Capital Indexes. Actual results experienced by limited partners will vary widely.
